Dear Medicaid Innovation and Reform Commission,

Please imagine yourself in different shoes... What if you did not have access to affordable health care and you needed health care, but people who did have access to proper health care simply said "tough", "who cares"? While you may think you are immune to that type of economic challenge in life, you are not. Health care should not be held hostage by politics. It is about real people in need. Get to know some of those real people. If you do, your heart and conscience will tell you to pave the way for everyone to have access to health care.

Sincerely,

Amy Denicore
