

Virginia MIRC< vamirc@mirc.virginia.gov>

New MIRC Comment

1 message

Wed, Oct 9, 2013 at 7:54 PM

Reply-to [REDACTED]
To: vamirc@mirc.virginia.gov

First Name - DorotheaLast Name - TeasleyOrganization Name -

Comment - I do not think that Virginia should expand Medicaid or to create exchanges. It is my firm belief that it is a violation of the Constitution and the powers of Congress. I am firm believer that Department of Human Services only creates a dependency on the government and not relying on self or community. The Founding Fathers considered welfare to mean a condition of health, happiness and prosperity and not government hand out that created a new definition with the New Deal and Socialism, Marxism and Communism. As Virginian, I strongly believe that we are obligated to enforce the Constitution as it was written in 1787 and being based on our own Constitution. Should the expansion and exchanges be create, we are invalidating not only we ARE Virginian patriots created but our very own Constitution and Bill of Rights. We were once a beacon for the nation inn the beginning, and now we must regain that light and show that Virginia will enforce the 10th Amendment and hold the Federal Government to stop expanding their powers that were not granted in the Articles of the Constitution and take back the rights that were both willfully and forcefully taken away from the states (which should also include invalidating the 17th Amendment which is a violation of the Articles in the Constitution and takes the state's voice out for the federal government that amendment was illegally declared ratified. If one was to thoroughly look at the creation of the Amendments of both the 16th and 17th amendments it would be clear that it was illegal to send to the states for ratification because not all members of the two houses were not present for the voting of these amendments; therefore invalidating per the Constitution which states that all of the members of both houses to vote on any amendment before sending to the states.) It is my opinion that creating the expansion would only give approval for the expansion of powers in the federal government and serve to continue to remove and invalidate the authority of the states just like the 17th Amendment being falsely ratified.