Dear Medicaid Innovation and Reform Commission,

Simply, a healthy work force is more productive than one that is not healthy, especially if that work force must worry about medical bills and time-off from work because they can't afford insurance. Having paid medical insurance rates during my career until I retired, I have found that Obamacare would have lowered my working insurance rates by one-half, very similar to the rates I now spend on Medicare!

If you want to help the sick and the poor, insuring them medical insurance support would be a plus in helping Virginia to be a workman's state powerhouse.

Sincerely,

Edward Longava
