Comment - I am trying to think of ONE government program that stayed within the bounds of its initial budget projections. I can't think of any! Would it not be better to try this on a smaller sample of folks than the NATION? How about one or two states? But, in fact, since I saw, with my own eyes, Senator Obama say he favored a single payer healthcare system but it could only be accomplished in small steps, I have no doubt that this is a step - a MAJOR step to eventually have a national healthcare system. The intention is too clear. I hate deceit. If it isn't broke, don't fix it!
