Dear Medicaid Innovation and Reform Commission,

No doubt YOUR health insurance is provided to you for free or very little. This allows you to go to the doctor when you're ill and to the hospital when you need major medical intervention. If you have a serious medical illness such as diabetes or cancer, you can go to doctors who will work with you so that your illness doesn't progress further and further until your prognosis is extremely poor. It's time to expand Medicaid to hundreds of thousands of Virginians who cannot afford the exhorbitant cost of heath insurance, thereby giving these people the same right to get medical attention as you do.

Sincerely,

Barbara Amalfi
