Dear Medicaid Innovation and Reform Commission,

It is a shame on Virginia's leaders that we do not have Medicaid expansion in this state. We're supposed to have an enlightened state government, but this is a step backwards for them and us. While most of the othr states support expansion of medical services to the poor, Virginia stonewalls--to the detriment of our citizens. If you could see just one person who can't eat because of dental problems, one person who dies of his Afib because he can't afford an inexpensive drug prescribed by the doctor he can't afford to see (and this happened to my dear friend), you would surely support expansion. I can't support any politician who doesn't work to expand Medicaid. Don't hold poor people hostage to politics!

Sincerely,

Betsy Day
