Comment - Medicaid expansion would be a huge win for the people of virginia. Right now we have thousands of Virginians who aren't poor enough to receive Medicaid but too poor to afford health insurance. And this fact not only affects the single adults in the state, thousands of children would be able to get to the quality medical care every virginia deserves. I fully support the Medicaid expansion in virginia and honestly do not understand why some people are so against it. They must not want every Virginian to have access to the same quality care they do. That seems wrong to me and as someone lucky enough to have insurance I understand how much this matters.
