Dear Medicaid Innovation and Reform Commission,

As a volunteer at our local food pantry, I see people all day who have serious medical conditions that are not being addressed. Many of these people could be working if they had health care for their problems. It is short-sighted, in my opinion, to "save" money this way. It will only cost us later.

And the issue is even more serious for children whose needs are not being met. We will be paying for our delay in helping them for their entire lives. This is not saving, but wasting money.

And of course, it's the right thing to do.

Sincerely,

Jean Lowe
