

New MIRC Comment

1 message

Tue, Oct 8, 2013 at 8:17 AM

Reply-To: [REDACTED]

To: vamirc@mirc.virginia.gov

First Name - Karol

Last Name - Akers

Organization Name -

Comment - Va needs to expand Medicaid in light of the Affordable Care Act. I have grown children aging off my insurance and rates for young people are now very high to lower the rates for older people. However, they don't make enough money to qualify for the tax credits to help them pay for the higher rates - with the system saying they qualify for Medicaid. But Va says they don't. So the people who need it the most, those below levels qualifying for tax credits under the Affordable Care Act are left to pay the most or simply continue to go without insurance. Makes absolutely no sense at all.