Comment - I have volunteered at at Free Clinic in Virginia for 5 years and have observed the patients that come into the clinic for medical attention. Most of these people have never had consistent health care in their lives. They are in their 30's, 40's, 50's and 60's and they are sicker than they should be because they didn't have the wealth to buy medical insurance or the jobs that would provide coverage. Health care is a basic right, not a privilege and we have a moral and ethical responsibility to help this population.
