Comment - I would like to see the state of Virginia accept federal funds, and expand Medicaid. Refusing these funds will mean that the state will still have to deal with the health care issues of an aging population, and the millions of Virginians who cannot afford health coverage. Insisting upon making 19 changes before accepting federal funds may become so entangled that no agreement is ever possible. While the Governor may feel that he is taking a principled state against federal health care regulations, etc., decent and hard-working Virginians will suffer as a result.
